Dear Stephanie and family, We have no words at this sad time to express our sorrow for you at this time. Just know you have alot of family and friends to help you through this. Time will go on, but the pain you have will not be forgotten. Try to think of happier times with your mom Stephanie. Chelsey remembers all the special things she liked to make you girls. I remember she liked going over to your place, your Mom always made her feel special! And then there was your girls Prom night! My heart is aching for you, I am so sorry. Take one day at a time, and know that maybe she just couldn't go on, that she is more at peace right now, and that God will take care of her, and she will be your Angel looking down on you and protecting you every day.
