“ Sid was 2 1/2+ years younger than me, and being the (2) oldest boys out of (10) children in our family, we were close growing up and in our earlier adult years. We had a lot of fun doing things like riding dirt bikes, a couple of hunting trips and poker games with other friends. In our later adult years we did not see one another as often, especially after I moved to Central Oregon 20 years ago, although I always enjoyed seeing him and his family.

On the occasions when we did get to spend time together, usually at family functions like reunions or Christmas gatherings, he was always fun to visit with. In hindsight, I wish that I had seen him more often. Time goes by and you think there will always be another occasion to see someone. Then suddenly time runs out, either for you or for them, and it is too late to do those things. Fortunately, I did get to see Sid, Susanne and Stacy for a few hours shortly before he passed away and I am grateful for that time. He died too young, and I miss him. I wish the best for Susanne, Stacy and Lisa, and offer my heart felt condolences to them.

“ Sid was my brother, just a year younger than me. Roy, Sid and I were known as the big kids in our family, as apposed to all the rest, which were the little kids. Being the big kids, we had a lot of responsibilities, and I believe that carried over into Sid's adult life as he was always responsible, dependable and trustworthy. I have a great many fond memories of Sid.

Sid and I both got a job working out at the Springbrook Cannery in the frozen green bean section, and that's where we came to know Susanne. Susanne & I were on the line weighing & packing the beans, and Sid had the cushy job of taking the packages to the freezer.

When Sid and Susanne were dating, the three of us decided to go to Mt. Hood one day to play in the snow. None of us was dressed for the weather; I believe I was wearing tennis shoes. We were so cold, but we tried to go sledding and have fun anyway. The best part of that trip was sitting in the warm ski lodge.

I remember one time when our family was having a reunion picnic out at Champoeg Park and Sid and I went for a long walk around the area and by the river. We talked about all sorts of things, but I particularly recall how we talked about raising our kids. Sid cared about his family more than anything and did his very best for them.

When our cousin Dwayne from ND came out to visit, a group of us went to the beach to stay at Sam & Janet's beach house. One evening we were down on the beach having a bonfire. Sid & I were going back up to the house for cans of soda and Sid reached back for my hand to help me up the hill. I was so glad he did that because I would have had trouble with the climb. That's the way Sid was, thoughtful and kind.

When Sid was in hospital this year undergoing cancer treatments, he had Susanne message me on my birthday because he remembered and wanted me to have a good day. That really touched my heart!

He was a great brother whom I loved dearly and always will. I'm thankful for the blessing of having him in my life. He left us way too soon, but I know I'll see him again someday when we meet up in heaven.

“ Sid was 15 years older than me and already married and on his own when I was only 3 years old, so I don't have a lot of memories of growing up with him as many of my other siblings do. What I do remember of him from my childhood was that he was a very hardworking person who took great care of his family and loved them very much. He and Susanne took me along on trips to Sunriver and I always had a great time. I also have fond memories of Sid at family get-togethers...especially the Christmas that he gave me an awesome dollhouse that he had made for me. I had so much fun playing with my Barbies with it and I still have it. My children played with it and I'm sure that my grandchildren will have a lot of fun with it too. Sid, even though we didn't see each other much, I love you and I miss you dearly. It's just not the same without you here. I'm glad that you are at peace and no longer suffering.

Love,

“ Uncle Sid was a great man , he could light up a conversation with his smile and laugh. His stories were great , I could sit back a just listen when uncle Sid and the other uncles where telling stories at family gatherings. It's very sad that you are gone.... You are truly missed uncle Sid...

“ Sid was a good brother to have. He was confident and consistent. I have fond memories of us dirt riding together. He always set a good example for us younger siblings. I will miss him always. My heart goes out to his wife Susanne, and his children and grandchildren. I am glad he no longer suffers and will see him again when my time comes.

“ Susanne and family, sending you love and prayers of comfort during this sorrowful time. I will always remember the smile that Sid had when ever he would greet someone. He was a great co-worker at the Dairy Queen and I am not sure I have ever laughed that much since!
Rest in Peace Sid
