“ As a caregiver for Netti I grew to love her spunky additude. I will always remember the long talks, fun games of yatzee and the continual looking for midnight, the youngest cat. Even though Netti loved both cats Lillybean and Midnight, it was thru midnight I got to really got to know the real Netti. Thru the tough exterior, I found a gentle, loving person. It was the unconditional love Netti had for Midnight and he for her. We always teased that Midnight was her reincarnated last husband that she loved so very much. It was the way Midnight would sit up by Netti and look at her, and would always check out what was going on and sometimes, he would get between Netti and the other person if they sat by her.

It was the unconditional love I found Netti had, but couldn't always show it. I hope Netti's spirit is now at rest. May god give unconditional love and peace to her family and friends.
