Bob was one of my first boyfriends in high school, and after that, one of my close friends. Our goofy group of friends often tp-ed each other. One night we decided it was Bob's turn. After making a mess of his yard, his dad came out with a shotgun (doubt it was loaded - but it scared the devil out of us), so we promptly UN-tp-ed Bob's yard. Bob was always a GOOD person and kind friend. I lost track of him out of school, but never lost respect for him. I'm glad he had such a strong network of family and friends. Karen (Gentry) Cochran

“ My dad was many different things to many different people. In some cases he was an employer, tough yet fair, a businessman, respected and clear, a friend to others , fun to be with and cherished. He was always looked up to by everyone he came in contact with. I have learned many lessons from him even though he wasn't trying to teach. He was just being him. I miss him greatly and he can never be replaced. I hope for myself to carry on his legacy that would make him proud. I am very proud to call him dad. I love you dad rest in peace.

“ I knew Bob since the first grade! We graduated together and caught up at different schools along our journey. We were great friends in high school and attended the senior prom. He was always positive and fun to be around. I'm so sorry we lost him so early. RIP Bob!

“ Bob was more than a respected businessman to me—he was someone who took the time to encourage and support me a few years back . As a close friend to his daughter, I saw firsthand how much he cared, even when he was being tough. When he let me interview him for a business class paper, he treated my questions with seriousness and respect, and he shared his time and wisdom generously. I earned an A on that paper, but more importantly, I learned what leadership, integrity, and generosity truly look like. Bob set high standards, believed in hard work, and quietly helped others succeed. I will always be grateful for his kindness and proud to have known him. Suzanne Logan

“ Robert came out to the American Legion on his birthday with James. He sat with my family that was here to help me recover from a broken neck. What a delight he was with everybody. I sat next to him and he was completely at ease. He shared with me about his wife breaking her neck and gave me a lot of advise. I only met him the one time yet his presence in that day left a huge impact. Rest in peace Robert and know you left a lot of foot prints in this world.
